[redacted] telephoned this date and stated that two individuals who had assisted in this project would probably be employed immediately at [redacted] unless he could give them a statement that we did have an interest in the aforementioned project. [redacted] stated that a statement along the lines of the attached letter would be sufficient to hold these two men a few more days until we had made a definite decision.

The attached letter was cleared with [redacted] and Dr. Chadwell prior to dispatch.

[redacted] further stated that he would not inform the above mentioned individuals of our interest, but, rather, would tell them that a "government agency" did have an interest in the project, since these two people did not to date know that the project in question had been submitted to this Agency.
